The following are normal relaxation reactions that sometimes occur during massage:

□ movement or release of intestinal gas □ laughing/crying □ strong emotions □ □ cognitive or felt memories □ energy shifts □ stomach gurgling □ need to move or change position □ drop in body temperature/need for more covers □ twitching □

Emotions are welcome here. Please trust your body to express what it needs to, and let me know if there is anything that I do to help you feel more comfortable at any time during our session.
